THE BAND A Glam-rock Super Group

The Original Jukebox Heroes was formed back in 2005 by Jeff Brown and ex Bee Gees keyboard player Gary Moberley. They wanted to create a Band of original, well known and long serving members of glam rock superbands, to deliver an authentic Show of Seventies classic anthems that catapult the audience back to the days of Glitter, Glam and platform boots. Over the years the Band has enjoyed a plethora of incredible musicians, all with a highly respected pedigree. They are sought after and regularly booked both in the UK and in Europe where they command a considerable following of loyal fans. The current line-up is:

JEFF BROWN Bass Guitar/Vocals Founder member 2005

Jeff always knew he wanted to play bass and become a top performer. He realised this ambition when, for 16 years, he was lead singer and played bass guitar with The Sweet. His rock style vocals and varied style of bass playing have also given rise to a varied career playing with many different artists including amongst others, Alan Silson (original Smokie), Ian Gillan (Deep Purple), John Coghlan (Status Quo), and John Lawton (Uriah Heap). Jeff is currently an active member of The Treams (ex Tremeloes), and Cats In Space. He's a songwriter too, having released an album of his own cathartic life songs in 2015.

PHIL HENDRIKS Guitar/Vocals Joined 2011

Phil's career began as lead singer, songwriter and guitarist with power pop band The Stiffs, who enjoyed chart success with several hits. He's toured both in the UK and abroad with Eric Faulkner's Bay City Rollers from 2008 until 2011 when he became the regular touring guitarist with Les McKeown's Bay City Rollers until Les' sad death in 2021. Phil performs with Phil Wright's Original 70's Paper Lace and as touring guitarist with Merrill Osmond (lead singer of "The Osmonds"), whilst also pursuing a career as a recording artist in his own right. His solo album was released in 2020.

PETE PHIPPS Drums/Vocals Joined 2012

Pete Phipps is the power house behind the Band, best known in the 70's as the heart-throb teen idol original drummer with Gary Glitter, and also in their own right, The Glitter Band. Later in the 80's he was drummer with The Eurythmics, XTC and Boy George as well as working with other high profile artists both on the road and in the recording studio. Pete is able to play in a wide range of styles and genres, and always has the enthusiasm to try something unusual and new. He still performs regularly with both The Glitter Band and the recently reformed Mud. Pete also released a solo album in 2020.
